

The League Club presents Naples Tables

The League Club will make a bold move by introducing a new format to the perennially favorite fundraising luncheon at The Ritz-Carlton Golf Resort, on March 11, 2019. Naples Tables, Celebrating Style, Food and Fun, a New-to-Naples event promises a new stunningly beautiful format, showcasing over 60 professionally designed tables with unique celebration themes.

The one-of-a-kind club is known for innovation and its commitment to community. Fundraising Chair, Jane Stone, and President Charlene Barnette are the creative forces behind the Naples debut of the new format, having collaborated on design projects in their Junior League of Indianapolis. Modeled after similar successful affairs in other cities, Naples Tables will feature elegant and whimsical tabletops created by award-winning local and national designers.

When the doors open at 10:30 a.m. guests will mingle with friends, view the fabulous tables and meet the designers who created them. Each designer who participates in Naples Tables will be able to showcase their creativity to 600 luncheon guests and speak about potential new business opportunities. A Naples Tables Resource Book describing each of the designers will go home with each guest for future reference. At noon, guests will be seated at one of the beautiful tables and enjoy a delicious Southern themed luncheon created by the Ritz-Carlton chefs.

Since Naples Tables is all about celebrating style, food and fun, there could be no more appropriate keynote speaker than James Farmer, a lifestyle expert and author of eight best-selling books. Southern born and bred, Farmer's work has been published in Southern Living, House Beautiful, Traditional Home, Southern Home, Southern Lady, Country Living, Flower and more. A frequent guest on television and radio, Farmer's natural Southern grace and warm personality light up any room. Farmer masterfully guides his audience through the art of graceful living. James Farmer says, "I want our clients to love being home, or longing to be, in a very personal and lovely space whether it is a place for solitude or company."

The League Club annually produces one major fundraiser for its Community Trust Fund from which grants are distributed to strengthen communities in Collier and Lee Counties. Over the past 32 years, more than $4.2 million in grants have been awarded through a carefully vetted grant process to support the environment, education, children and families.
